

Ma-ie Day celebration to break loose Friday

Seven seats on council go to Independents

The Independents captured seven out of 12 Student Council seats in Friday's all-school election.

Council President Dan Koukol termed the turnout "exceptional." More than 600 students made their way to the polls. They also marked their x's for OU's fifteenth Ma-ie Day Princess.

Those elected to senior council seats are Jean Satrapa, Independents; Eileen Wolfe, Independents; Richard Johnson, Alpha Sigma Lambda, and Lloyd Metheny, Phi Sigma Phi.

Junior council members are Jackie Geilus, Sigma Chi Omicron; Sally Step, Independents; Tom Slack, Beta Phi Delta; and Bill Sykora, Independents.

Those who will serve as sophomore councilmen are Nancy Jones, June Williams and Mark Gautier, Independents, and Ben Tobias, Theta Phi Delta.

Announcement of the Ma-ie Day Princess will be made at the skits Friday afternoon. Senior girls vying for the Princess Attira XV honor are Marilee Steinman, Chi Omega, Virginia Oberg, Kappa Psi Delta, Marory Mahoney, Independents; Dolores Hughes, Sigma Chi Omicron; Phyllis Earp, Phi Delta Psi, and Judy Rutherford, Gamma Sigma Omicron.

Governor's party at dinner Friday

The university played host Friday to Governor Val Peterson and a party of official sightseers.

After a tour of offices and departments of the university from 4:30 to 6 p.m., the party had dinner in the faculty clubroom and then saw the Cardinals lose to Pueblo by a score of 3-2 at the Municipal Stadium.

Those making the trip, besides the governor, included Mrs. Peterson; Bob Hall, president of the Western Baseball League; state legislators and administrators; members of the press and radio staff at the capital, and their wives.

Among local guests were Mayor Cunningham; Commissioner Rosenblatt; Clarence Kirkland, president of the Omaha School Board and their wives. Only two of Omaha's seven senators were in the group. They were William Norman and Cliff Boyd.

Today is deadline for cap and gown orders

Today is the last day for seniors to be measured for caps and gowns. Inquiries should be made at the bookstore.

This announcement comes from Byron Miller, president of the senior class, as commencement plans roll into high gear.

Miller also announced that August graduates may attend the senior banquet and dance June 2 at the Birchwood Club. The $5 assessment for this event may be paid to Jeane Thomsen, Earl Rakein or Byron Miller. Payment of the fee will constitute a reservation.

Commencement announcements for June graduates may now be purchased in the bookstore, Miller further stated.

Registration in full swing; ends Thursday

With the Thursday deadline on early registration fast approaching, Registrar Alice Smith urges all students to sign up for classes as soon as possible in order to get good schedules.

More than 500 forms were given out Friday, first day of the registration, Miss Smith said.

Night classes will be offered this summer

Night summer school will be offered this year for the first time.

The decision to present courses between June 13 and July 15 was made because of the interest of numerous Omahans to continue their education during the summer months. Classes will be held Monday, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 9:40 p.m.

Registration for the classes will be held Saturday morning, June 11, and Monday evening, June 13, from 5 to 7.

Courses will be offered in art, business administration, commercial arts, education, English, psychology, sociology, speech and radio.

Emcees quit Ma-ie Day Program

It looked like a tie in the neck-and-neck race to emcee the Ma-ie Day skit program when this picture was taken.

Results: all three had resigned from the Ma-ie Day program after a bloody battle that had the KOIL studios shaking dizzily during last night's Your University broadcast.

What the three men termed a "somewhat serious discussion" started when a Friday Gateway story announced that McPherson had been selected to emcee the skit program. Another writeup in the same issue said Marshall would announce, while still another story gave Ross the emcee's duties.

As of yesterday, Friday afternoon's skits are without a calm, low-blood-pressured emcee of any kind. As a last resort, officials are hunting for Marjorie Mahoney, to check her blood pressure and sign her up.

No issue Friday

There will be no issue of The Gateway Friday because of the Ma-ie Day celebration. Next issue of the paper will be next Tuesday.

Sociological Society will meet here in '50

The University of Omaha will be host to the Midwestern Sociological Society in May, 1950.

Dr. T. E. Sullenger, chairman of the Sociology Department, received the wire, confirming the selection of Omaha as the location for next year's convention.

This year's convention was held at the University of Wisconsin during the past week.

Talent is sought for amateur radio show

Students interested in auditioning tomorrow for the "Original Amateur Hour" program, a network broadcast, should leave their names in The Gateway office before 10 tomorrow morning.

This is necessary so that network officials may know if a sufficient number of students are interested to make the special audition worthwhile.

Talent is sought in all categories from vocalists, instrumentalists, to roller skaters, magicians and other novelty acts.

The program itself will be aired on the evening of May 18 from 7 to 8 on station KOIL.

No school vote on card playing

The question of card playing will not be put to an all-school vote.

This was announced in a letter from Dean of Students John W. Lucas at the Student Council meeting Friday.

The letter stated that the Faculty Committee felt that the decision should come from the council, as the members were representing the student body. Dean Lucas added that since the decision had been made, the Faculty Committee believed that the council's ruling should stand.

Council sponsor Ormsby Harry announced that the Red Cross will be at the university May 27 to take Blood Bank donations. The donations are to be given on a purely voluntary basis. Equipment will be set up in the Quonset Hut. Arrangements are to be made by council members Donna Roessig and June Williams.

Names of 11 seniors eligible for honor certificates were approved by the council. Final approval is to come from the Faculty Committee.

Budget Chairman Gene Hampton read the prospective budget for the '49-'50 school year. This budget, with one revision, was accepted by the council. A standing vote of thanks was then given to Hampton for his work on the budget.

Before the meeting was adjourned, a motion was approved to send a letter to the Athletic Department suggesting that some form of identification, such as a banner, be put on buses carrying OU teams out of town. The council felt that this would bring acknowledgment to the school as the teams went through other towns.

Airplanes, skits, princess, parades included in plans

Plans for the "biggest and best" Ma-ie Day celebration in the history of the school are nearing completion.

This year's Ma-ie Day will include more participants than ever before, according to Lloyd Metheny, over-all chairman of the day-long event. There will be sports, floats, skits, crowning of the princess and even airplanes.

An innovation will be the addition of nine T-6's to fly cover for the parade. The pilots are OU students and promise to put on a good show for the spectators. The Air Corps Reserve pilots are Charlie Borg, Milton Anderson, Warren Wittekind, Don Sammons, Elton Hecotor, Chuck Freed, Howard Peters, Calvin Jassman and John Waters.

If it rains? The pilots think they will fly anyway. The question is: Will they have a parade to fly over? "The most we can hope for is that it doesn't rain," Metheny said. Long-range forecasts predict rain for next Friday, he added.

Breakfast at Elmwood
Ignoring the wet threat, the day's activities will begin in the morning with a 7:30 breakfast at Elmwood Park. Nearly 500 people are expected, but Marge Hunt, breakfast committeeman, promises enough scrambled eggs, coffee, sweet rolls and oranges to feed everyone.

Tickets for the breakfast are on sale in the box office for 25 cents for students and 35 cents for the guests. Sales will end tomorrow.

Sports are on the program for 9 o'clock, following the breakfast. The Greeks will be pitted against the Independents in softball games. Tom Slack is chairman of the sports program and promises plenty of exercises for the braves and their squaws. Ribbons will be awarded the winners.

The parade will come at 11 o'clock, with plans for 150 cars to participate. All cars must be registered by today at 3 and must be decorated for the parade. They should be assembled at the univer-

Yearbook appearance to brighten exam day

Here's something to soften the effect of the first day of final exams.

The Tomahawk will appear on the campus May 26, Editor Judy Rutherford has hopefully announced... hopeful in that the printer and bindery meet their deadlines.

The completed books should be back in Omaha ready for distribution May 26. They will contain 120 pages and be bound in a red and black cover.

Only students holding present semester activity cards are eligible to receive the yearbook without additional charge.

Future engineers visit OU Saturday

Forty prospective engineering students from the Omaha area gathered at the university Saturday to get some straight answers about "Engineering as a Career."

They were guests of the Omaha U Engineers' Club and the Vocational Guidance Council of the Engineers' Club of Omaha. Following an address by C. F. Moulton of the Omaha Public Power District, they saw an orientation film. Later they attended discussion groups based on specific branches of the field and headed by members of the university's Engineers' Club.

Alfred Stone and Thomas Vierling were in charge of the general engineering group; Bib Kruse and Herbert Larsen, the aeronautical group; Duane Olberts and Don Slezak, the industrial group; Eugene Andrews and John Pizzato, the civil and architectural groups; and Richard Hill and Ray Siverson, the electrical group.

Ray Dull shows inventions. The high school students then toured the engineering department to see exhibits which included the text books of the two-year preparatory course in engineering, miniature houses and drawings arranged by the architectural engineering students, a pictorial display of the air-conditioning system of the university and displays of the chemistry and physics departments. Ray Dull, an engineering student, exhibited his inventions of an automobile parking device and a time clock and wage computer.

The future engineers also saw demonstrations of instrument flying in the Link trainer which is east of the machine shop, of mechanical lettering, blueprinting and surveying. The students were encouraged to submit their own high school drawings and scientific projects.

R. O. Beneke, chairman of the Engineers' Club at the university, explained the essential difference between Engineers' Day and last Wednesday's Vocations Day. He said that Vocations Day was planned to help students already in college to choose careers. Engineers' Day was intended not only to enable potential engineering students to select one particular branch of the field, but also to clear up any possible misconceptions about it, to help them decide whether or not they wanted to be engineers, and then just what kind of engineers they want to be.

Midland's latest club well-rounded group

Here's the newest in college clubs. About 15 co-eds have banded together to form the Fat Girls' Club at Midland College of Fremont.

Club meetings are held every night from 9 to 9:30 in a girls dorm. And what goes on in the meetings? Exercises, of course. Massages are also on the menu.

One of the most frequently used exercises is bending over and touching the toes. Some co-eds though, say they have to curl up their toes.

One girl claimed to have lost five pounds in one night. Another did not have as much luck. "Quite a club," she said, "I gained weight."

Three judges will be stationed along the downtown parade route, but their identity is known to only Mark Gautier, parade chairman, and Metheny.

The parade will follow about the same route as last year, leaving the university, going by Creighton and through downtown Omaha. The route is:

Parade begins at OU, goes down Dodge street to 30th st., on 30th north to California, on California east to 20th, on 20th south to Farnam, on Farnam east to 15th, on 15th north to Dodge, on Dodge west to OU.

The skits will be presented in the auditorium at 1. Thirteen skits will be presented this year in a two and one-half hour show. The tribal presentation of Princess Atira XV will climax the show at 4 o'clock. Judges will pick the first-, second- and third-place skit winners and will reveal them at the dance.

The OU-Morningside baseball game, postponed from April 26, will be played at 2:30 at Fontenelle Park.

At 4:30 the Fieldhouse cornerstone will be laid with dignitaries from the school and the Board of Regents attending.

Speakers will be President Bail, President Emeritus Haynes, Regents President Farrar Newberry and Alumni President Robert Storey. Dolores Hughes will fill the cornerstone box and each of the speakers will help seal it.

Climax of the day's activities will be the Ma-ie Day dance at Peony Park from 9 until midnight. Barclay Allen's orchestra will be on hand to furnish the music.

During intermission, winners of the skit and float contests will be awarded trophies. Second, third and honorable mention winners will receive ribbons.

Dance sponsors are Mr. and Mrs. R. Wayne Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. George Rayburn and Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Andrews.

OU '9' clashes with Sodaks today, here Friday against Morningside

A busy OU baseball team tackle their second opponent in two days. The Indians were slated to meet Morningside at Sioux City yesterday and today are to meet South Dakota State at Brookings, South Dakota.

The Yelkinmen have a score to settle with the Maroons. They beat the Red and Black twice last year so revenge is in the mind of Virg's pupils. South Dakota State is a new face on the baseball schedule. Yelkin doesn't know much about them but the fact that they are plenty powerful.

Either George Kostal, Joe Spagnola, Paul Sorenson or Lynn Hooton will get the nod for mound chores today.

The Indians climax a full week when they return to play Morningside Friday at Fontenelle at 2:45. This is a re-scheduling of the April 26th game that was rained out.

For Friday's important game, Virg will bank on his mound ace that mastered Creighton, Bud Bridenbaugh. The rest of the lineup will probably be much the same as the one that started the Bluejay game. That would be Jack Sueme at first; Bugs Redden at second; Don Fitch at shortstop and Walt Matejka at third. The fly chasers will be Bill Spellman, Freddy Abboud and Jerry Easterhouse or Bob Murray. Duane Lippold will be behind the plate.

Baseball mentor Yelkin is hoping that last week's rains haven't rusted the Indian hitting. Rain caused the cancelling of last Friday's game with the Sodaks and also hampered practice.

Yelkin is well satisfied with the showing that his charges have been making in the recent games.

Indian net squad blasts Bluejays

OU's rampaging tennis squad became the third Indian athletic team to hand Creighton defeat this spring when they trampled a hapless Bluejay net aggregation, 6-1, on the Dewey Park courts Friday night.

The victory was extra sweet to OU fans since it was the first time Red and Black netters had come out on top against Creighton since pre-war days.

Flashy Fred Pisasale stole the spotlight again when he turned back Creighton's Bill Berg 6-1, 4-6, 6-4. Berg, former prep star and considered by many as Omaha's best young player, was the heavy favorite.

Bluejay Tom Burke, another former Creighton Prep champ, saved the Hilltoppers from complete disgrace by outlasting Hal Hlad, 10-8, 8-6.

Hlad did provide good tennis when the chips were down but he just didn't have it that day. After dropping a grueling first set and trailing 5-0 in the second, Hlad put on a rally that netted him six straight games and the lead, only to drop the next three and the match.

In the featured doubles match, Pisasale and Hlad dropped Berg and Burke, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3. Summaries.

Singles

Fred Pisasale, OU, defeated Bill Berg, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4; Tom Burke, Creighton, defeated Harold Hlad, 10-8, 8-6; Jim Reed, OU, defeated Jim Connor, 6-0, 6-2; Bob Wray, OU, defeated Tom O'Hearn, 6-0, 6-0; and Dave Davis, OU, defeated Subby Campagna by forfeit.

Doubles

Pisasale-Hlad, OU, defeated Berg-Burke, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3; Reed-Davis, OU, defeated Connor, Dan Farrell, 6-0, 6-1.

Four teams initiate Intramural softball

Intramural softball play made its debut yesterday on the hilltop diamond west of the school as two games were slated.

Benson was scheduled to meet Central, and Theta was matched against Delta Beta. All 'Mural softball games are set for 3:45.

Tomorrow Phi Sigs play Alpha Sigs, and North meets Tech.

Thursday outstate and South clash, and the winner of the Theta-Delta Beta game is to meet the winner of the Phi Sig-Alpha Sig match.

"Any student interested in the Intramural golf tournament should make sure that his name is on the petition in the men's locker room," advised Intramurals Director Don Plasterer.

Golf, tennis teams play Midland squads

Indian golf and tennis squads will see more action this week. Both teams have return engagements with Midland, the tennis team Thursday, the golf team Friday.

And besides the Midland match, Coach John Campbell's linksmen will seek win No. 2 over a reportedly stronger Creighton team Thursday. In their last meeting, the Red and Black won out by slim 16-11 margin.

Tennis mentor George Pritchard is expected to use reserve players generously in the Midland match.

With only three scheduled matches remaining, all three against teams previously vanguarded by Indian racqueteers, the Omahans seem a cinch to wind up their season with a 10-2 record.

Omaha trackmen face two meets in three days this week.

Twenty of the busy cindersmen will journey to Crete, Nebr., this afternoon for the first Doane College Relays.

Something new for the Red and Black, competition under the lights, will feature today's track carnival. Omaha will enter three teams in tonight's relay events.

Coach Lloyd Cardwell plans to field men in the mile relay, distance medley (440, 880, three-quarter mile and mile) and sprint medley (440, 220 and 880).

During the afternoon OU individual performers will compete in the pole vault, broad jump, high jump, shot put and discus.

The roster for today's trip:

Bernie Anderson, Cleveland Marshall, Carl Lomatch, Lorelle Alford, Roy Carlson, Don Bahnsen, Don Thompson, Hopie Bronson, Paul Larson, Ralph Pettit, Glen Richter, Brad Johnson, Gene Heins, Phil Barber, Ray Beal, Jim Woodhead, N. C. Fitz, Joe Arenas, Charles Anderson and Howard Byram.

Local fans will get to see the powerful Peru State Teachers team in action Thursday. Led by distance man Don Yocum, the Bulldogs swamped Omaha, Midland and Nebraska Wesleyan in a quadrangular at Peru Friday.

Field events are scheduled to begin at 2:30. Track events, leading off with the mile run, start at 3.

Thinclads come in third at Peru meet

How They Finished

Midland ... 40½ Wesleyan ... 40
Omaha U ... 47 Peru ... 93½

Peru, Nebr.—OU's undermanned track squad finished third with 47 points Friday at the Peru Invitational. It was strictly a three team race for second as the Peru Bobcats rolled up 93½ points.

Carl Lomatch and flu-stricken Lorelle Alford missed the trip for Omaha and the Indians missed them.

Alford would have been good for points in the pole vault and 400 while Lomatch has been a consistent point-maker in the low hurdles and broad jump. Both men were needed in the relays.

OU makes bid

As it was, the Red and Black made a strong bid for second. Don Bahnsen's fourth straight victory in the half mile and Phil Barber's winning heave in the discus sparked the drive.

Glen Richter and Eugene Heins ended up as part of a four way tie for first place in the high jump. Bernie Anderson contributed six points with thirds in the mile and two mile. His time in the former was 4:55.5, the best of his short career.

A tremendous burst of speed by anchor man Don Bahnsen gave the mile relay team a 3:39.4 victory. He picked up 15 yards in the last 220 to nip Wesleyan by a stride.

OU skips 880 relay

With one event left OU had a one-point edge over the Plainsmen. Then came the 880 relay. Omaha was unable to enter a team while Wesleyan romped home with a second place and three points.

Don Yocum, Peru distance sensation, posted wins in the mile and two mile. He sprinted the last 100 yards of the two mile, finishing more than half a lap ahead of the second place man.

B. Anderson, third in mile and 2 mile; Bahnsen, first in half mile; Dick Nelson, fifth in half mile; Hopie Bronson, fourth in 440; Cleveland Marshall, fifth in 220; Bob Dow, second in low hurdles, fifth in high hurdles.

Barber, first in discus; N. C. Fitz, third and Joe Arenas fifth in broad jump; Charles Anderson, third, Jim Woodhead fourth and Howard Byram fifth in shotput; Richter and Heins, tie for first with two others in high jump; Omaha (Nelson, Roy Carlson, Bronson, Bahnsen), first in mile relay.

Golfers take 7th win over Nebraska B club

Nebraska B became the seventh straight victim of Omaha U's linksmen Friday afternoon by a narrow 10-8 margin at Indian Hills.

Indians Bill Berner and Ray Nelson shot 76's to capture medalist honors along with Husker Steve Flansburg.

Nebraska B's Flansburg had little trouble in disposing of Chester Stefanski, 3-0. Stefanski was definitely off his game as was his partner John Duncan.

Duncan did manage to squeeze through with a 2-1 victory over Jim Rich, but the Stefanski-Duncan combination was defeated, 3-0, in the best ball match.

Nelson lost the front nine to Husker Paul Hyland but came back strong to win, 2-1. Berner's 76 won easily from Don Dutton (86), 3-0. The Nelson-Berner best ball combo won, 3-0.

Wanted: world globe to smash an atom

Wanted—assistance in building an atom smasher.

The physics lab will soon add a small model of an atom smasher to its equipment if—a metal globe five inches or more in diameter can be found.

Work on the apparatus is now at a standstill for lack of a globe. An old globe of the world would do the job.

After much fruitless searching, Bob Estabrook, who is building the machine, and J. G. McMillin, assistant professor of physics, appealed to The Gateway for help.

Estabrook's model will be too small to actually crack an atom, but it will be used in classroom demonstrations of the principles of the process. The machine, a Van de Graaff electrostatic generator, is also used commercially for making artificial lightning.

Alum Jeanne Fallers does psych research

Alumni Jeanne Fallers has been very busy since her graduation.

During the past two years, since receiving her AB, she has earned an MA from Macmurray College at Jacksonville, Ill., interned at several New York State institutions and done research work on the human brain.

Her research is being done under the direction of Dr. Elaine Kinder, one of the foremost women in the country in the field of physiological psychology.

Miss Fallers is at present a psychology intern at State School in Orange County, New York, an institution for boys. She has also interned at Letchworth Village, a widely known colony for the feeble minded.

A little yearning is a dangerous fling.
